If you are looking for a full stack web developer with a dedication to learn, improve and cooperate, you've come to the right place. I began my journey down the coding path March 3rd, 2021. I always felt that I was too detail oriented or meticulous for my previous work, so I sought out to find a career to match my need to fix and improve upon mine and others' work. Some of my hobbies include basketball and video games however most of my time goes to Marin, my love of ten years.
